

Process for System Certification:

The process leading to system certification involves various activities that must be completed and maintained before the applicant can be issued a System Certification Certificate.

Synfaring is an independent certification company where impartiality and objectivity are always considered before accepting assignments and appointing auditors.

Figure 1 Certification process

Figure 2 Audit process

